

CollegeSpring has compiled a set of Best Practices that are related to maximizing student outcomes through the program.

For partners, these fall into two general categories: Support & Buy-In from Partner and Implementation Quality & Fidelity. By working with CollegeSpring to follow these best practices, partners can ensure that their students gain the most benefit possible from the program.

Support & Buy-In

Administrator support & positivity in tackling implementation issues

Administrator buy-in to the importance of the program

Instructor support & positivity in tackling implementation issues

Instructor buy-in to the importance of the program

Implementation Quality & Fidelity

At least 60 minutes can be dedicated to instructional sessions

At least 60 – 90 minutes can be dedicated to mentoring sessions

Program covers all SAT content in instruction

Program is consistent with the core model to allow for consistent support

Sites who are implemented with fidelity and support from both the administration and CollegeSpring see 40+ points more improvement on their students' SAT scores than those who are off-model with little support.
